And enter'd upon the 1st of March next.

A N excellent farm, in New-Hampshire, Orange county, 120 acres of land, whereon is an elegant large new dwelling-house, 42 feet front, and 36 feet deep; with a large cellar under the whole house; and a kitchen about 20 feet from the house, of 18 feet long and 12 feet wide; a good new barn of 20 feet long and 12 feet wide, covered with cedar shingles, and a floor laid through with two inch plank double; two outhouses and three barracks, and an orchard of two hundred bearing apple trees; a large quantity of good meadow, fourteen acres of which yield twenty tons of extraordinary good hay in a common season, and eight acres more almost brought too; low land enough to make fifty acres more, and 150 acres of cleared land, the rest very good timber land. The whole farm is in good repair, and fence, a great deal of which is stone; it is also well watered with living brooks running through the whole of it. Any person inclining to purchase the same, may apply to JACOB ADEEN, living in New-York, who will give an indisputable title for the same. 18 21

N. B. If the said farm should not be sold before the 1st of April, then it will be exposed to public vendue on the premises, with all the stock and utensils.

Next Door to
FRANKLIN and SPOFFERD,

Hatters, in the FLY,
WHERE he will pay a constant attendance and due respect to all those who are pleased to favour him with a visit, having sufficient reasons not to doubt (but conclude) it will be productive of further connections, as he is concerned with a company who are real manufacturers at Leeds, in Yorkshire, for whom he is come to settle here for a term of years, hoping that his assiduity and fidelity will lay him under repeated obligations, and render him respectable among his friends in America. The goods are all in good condition, and many of them of entire new patterns; all which, in consideration of their figure and quality, will be sold cheaper than any ever yet imported. Any person who chooses to become a purchaser of a whole bale of cloth, may depend upon having the same deduction as is allow'd to the importers.

N. B. He expects by the first vessels from England, a large and genteel assortment of woollen goods, of the newest patterns. 18 21

lic vendue the 23th of March, on the premises, in Rombout's Precinct, Dutchess county.

L O T No. 1, containing about three hundred acres, joining the North-river, with a very good framed house, forty feet long and 35 feet wide; also a very good barn, built all of cedar, also a grist-mill, in very good order for packing and bolting, also orchard and meadow ground sufficient, now in the occupation of Lawrence Lawrence.

Lot No. 2, containing about two hundred acres, joining lot No. 1, and is very good land, with a comfortable country dwelling house and a complete barn and orchard, and meadow ground.

Lot No. 3, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, joining lot No. 2, and is very good land, with a middling dwelling-house, but a very good new barn, all covered with cedar; the land is almost all meadow ground, with a complete orchard.

Lot No. 4, containing two hundred and twenty three acres, joining lot No. 3; with a very good house and barn, and young orchard, and some meadow ground, and there may be made, with little charge.

For particulars, inquire of LAWRENCE LAWRENCE, in Rombout Precinct, in Dutchess county, or Mr. NATHA-NIEL MAXWELL, merchant in New-York, who will agree for the same, and give a good title.

SAVANNAH, in GEORGIA, January 4.
BY a vessel from Jamaica we learn, that Admiral Rodney, was returned from the Spanish Main without having the British prisoners delivered to him by the Spaniards. It was expected that the Admiral would soon be appointed Governor of that island.

CHARLESTOWN, January 4.
Letters from North-Carolina inform us that the General Assembly of that Province, now sitting at Newbern, hath passed a bill for emitting sixty thousand pounds proclamation money, in paper bills of credit, to discharge the expences of the late expedition, and for other services.

The right honourable his Majesty's post-masters general have been pleased to appoint George Roupell Esq; of this town, to be deputy post-master general of the southern District of North-America, in the room of Peter Delancey, Esq; deceased.
Yesterday passed by this bar for Georgia, the Providence, Linthorne, from Poole, and the Britannia from Cork, the last full of Passengers.

WILLIAMSBURG, (Virginia) January 18.
At a Court of Common-Hall yesterday, to take under consideration the expediency of opening a Communication between James and York Rivers, by a Canal to be dug from Archer's Hope Creek, which runs into James River, it was the unanimous opinion that such a measure would be attended with very great benefit to the trade of the said Rivers, as well as to the Inhabitants of this City; upon which a subscription was immediately set on Foot for carrying this desirable scheme into Execution, which already amounts to upwards of two thousand pounds, his Excellency the Governor gave five hundred pounds, the honourable Peyton Randolph, Esquire, two hundred pounds, and a number of other Gentlemen a hundred pounds each.
And there will be another half next Saturday, at which all the Inhabitants are desired to attend, when it is not doubted the subscription will be considerably increased, every one being fully satisfied of the usefulness and practicability of the work. It is thought the whole may be completed for six or seven thousand pounds.

S A L E M, January 21.
Last Thursday, between 3 and 4 o'Clock, P. M.
Bryan Sheehen was executed here, pursuant to his Sentence, for committing a Rape, in September last, on the body of Abial Hollowell, wife of Benjamin Hollowell, of Marblehead. He frequently declared to divers persons, since his condemnation, (what he asserted at his trial) that his behaviour to Mrs.
Hollowell was in consequence of a mutual agreement; and continued to persist in the same at the place of execution: But he was so notorious for uttering falshoods, even while under sentence of death; together with his denying, to the last, that he was ever sensible of wounding Mrs. Hollowell, notwithstanding his cruelty to her was very plainly proved on trial, independent of her evidence; that it is very difficult to give any credit to what he declared.
He exhorted the spectators to avoid bad company, and to take warning by his untimely end.—He prayed very earnestly before, and at the time of his being turned off; his neck was heard to snap, and he seemed to die in an instant, without the least struggle.
He desired that if any person took his body for dissection, it might be Dr. Kaff.—He was born in Ireland, and was about 39 years of age.

B O S T O N, January 23.
Letters from London by the Packet mention, that the board of revenue and excise in Ireland being made into two distinct boards: Sir Francis Bernard, Bart. was appointed first commissioner of the board of Excise, with a salary of 1000 £. Sterling a year.

That Mr. Verner late Secretary to the board of commissioners here, has an employment under the new board of Excise in Ireland, a place of 130 £. a year.

Grosvener Bedford, Esq; Patent Collector of Philadelphia died in England, the beginning of November.

January 27. Yesterday afternoon arrived Capt. Wier, in a schooner from Falmouth, which place he left the 5th of December, and has brought prints to the 25 of November; but they contain no very important intelligence, except a confirmation of the death of Dr. Lucas (the Irish Patriot) at Dublin:—That advice was received from Leghorn, that the Duke of Gloucester, who had been very ill there was on the recovery, and tho't by his Physicians to be out of danger:—And that the Parliament was prorogued to the 1st of January, then to meet for the dispatch of the weighty and important affairs of the nation.

Last Thursday died at Charleston of a consumption, in the 18th year of her age, Miss Abigail Sheaffe, only child of the late Edward Sheaffe Esq; of that Place,—her father, mother, two sisters about the same age, and a Negro woman in the family, all died with the same disease within the last four years.—The above-mentioned six persons were all appearance in extraordinary health a few months before their respective deaths.

N E W P O R T, January 27.
The 9th inst. at the Vineyard, one Butler and another young man agreed to meet at Butler's home, and go early next morning to kill a Seal, which used to frequent a certain rock near the shore; but instead of meeting Butler, the other went away alone and placed himself in a proper situation to wait for the Seal; when Butler found his companion did not appear according to agreement, he set out also in quest of the Seal; and coming near the place, observed something unusual on the beach or shore, and imagined the Seal had come on shore, instead of getting on the rock as usual; so took sight and fired; when, to his great surprise, he found he had killed his friend and companion. The young man killed was about 19 years of age, his name we can't learn.

P O L A N D. Warsaw, Nov. 9. HIS Majesty the [King of Poland, thank heaven, is pretty well, considering the late horrid attempts made on his sacred person. The wound which he received on the head from a sabre is not dangerous. All those who have seen the coach he was in, and the clothes he wore that day, agree that the hand of the Almighty had visibly protected him on the occasion. His garment is pierced in two different parts, not only with balls, but seemingly with cut lead, besides a stroke upon the back, which is cut in two, without his Majesty's receiving any wound.

The Heydeck, who lost his life by the courageous resistance he made to save that of the King, was buried the 6th of this month in the church-yard of the Diffidants, with the greatest pomp, and the company who followed the corpse amounted to upwards of a thousand persons, amongst whom were three Knights of the King's Orders. The mother of this faithful servant will be amply provided for the remainder of her days. The miller and his wife, to whose house the King retired in the night, have received an hundred ducats from his Majesty, who hath besides given orders for a new mill to be built at his own expence, which is to be possessed by them and their descendants free of all taxes and imposts. The assassins were concealed in the Dominicans convent in the old town, and from that asylum watched the opportunity to execute their barbarous design.

L O N D O N, November 16.

Extract of a Letter which Prince Gallitzin, the Russian Minister at the Hague, received the 14th inst. from an officer on board the Russian fleet, in the Archipelago, dated at Tasso, Oct. 19.

"The transactions of the present campaign, though perhaps not so brilliant as those of last year, are nevertheless of some consequence. Before any great stroke could be struck, it was necessary previously to destroy the magazines which were established for the supply of the capital. With this view Count Alexis Orlov went with the fleet and bombarded Negropont, while the troops which landed seized the magazines of corn and flour. His Squadron afterwards cruised along the coast of Macedonia, bombarded Cavallo, destroyed or carried off the considerable magazines at Salonica, and in the gulph of Cassandra. On the other side, Count Theodore Orlov scoured Naxos, cannonaded Rhodes, and afterwards entered the gulph of Macrin. This place since the war has been made the depository of the corn that is brought from Syria and Egypt, which from thence is sent by land to Constantinople. Under the direction of his Excellency I had the honour to command the troops that were sent ashore upon this occasion. The enemy at first made a show of defending their magazines, but were soon obliged to abandon them with the loss of sixty men, besides several wounded and made prisoners. We likewise took some chebecs and four pieces of cannon, and had only two men killed and a few wounded. A transport ship with troops on board was attacked by five Turkish galleys, but after a smart engagement the latter were forced to sheer off. This is the substance of what has passed in this part of the world."

Nov. 25. The Rev. Dr. Cooper, President of the College of New-York, is just arrived in the Fox, Capt. Norman, from New-York. He is said to have come over at the desire of the clergy, to further the settlement of a Bishop in America.

The affair of the Mississippi government is revived since Lord Hillsborough's return from Ireland, and we are told that a civil establishment on that river will take place in the course of the present winter.

A Mr. — is arrived from Bengal, who is said to have amassed above one hundred thousand pounds by a monopoly of rice; and to which monopoly, it is said, was chiefly owing the late terrible and affecting famine in that country, by which nearly 100,000 unhappy people lost their lives. Who would wish the enjoyment of riches at such a price?

It is confidently asserted that a treaty of marriage is on foot, and will be celebrated in a few days, between her Grace the Dutchess Dowager of Bedford, and the Hon. Richard Rigby, Esq; Member of Parliament for Tavistock in Devonshire, formerly Secretary to his Grace the late Duke, when Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

NOVEMBER 23.

The great cause between Sir James Lowther and the Duke of Portland is certainly finally determined by the trial on Wednesday last. The title of the Duke to Inglewood Forest is now established by the Nullem Tempus act passed last session, which declares an undisturbed possession of 60 years a sufficient title, and now precludes government from granting a fresh lease. The estate has been in the Portland family near 60 years.

NOVEMBER 25.

We are informed, that the malady of the P. Dowager gaining ground, and having seized the organs of speech, her R. H. languishes under an inability to express what she suffers.

When Lord R. and Lord S. attended a Great Per-sonage lately, they observed the Royal countenances bedewed with tears, which affected them so much, that several minutes elapsed in mutual silence.

A War in Germany is inevitable. The King of Prussia has entered Poland with forty thousand men. The Russians have evacuated the fortified places in their possession, on the Germanic side of Poland, for Prussian garrisons. The unadvised precipitancy of the Court of Vienna, in making a demand of cessions on the side of Moldavia, kindled this flame. The Czarina was enraged; and she set all engines at work to rouse his Prussian Majesty's ambition and natural jealousy against Austria.

The dispute between Great-Britain and Spain will produce no immediate consequences. It was altogether a smuggling affair in the West-Indies; and it will be explained away. In the mean time Spain is actually arming. France will not continue an idle spectator on the continent; and we, from treaty as well as good policy, must take an active part on the opposite side.

The Cabinet here has declared, in the most solemn terms, against a continental war. I hope the resolution will be kept. But it is apparent, it is certain, that we must, in three weeks, begin to arm. The general disposition to war on the continent renders the measure necessary; and I am convinced that every necessary measure will do no harm to commerce.—I would, therefore, advise stock-holders not to be bubbled out of their property. There is no fear of public bankruptcy; there can be no fear as long as we are determined to confine ourselves to our own element, the sea.

SCÈVA.

Extract of a Letter from Leghorn, Nov. 8.

"I could not suffer the courier to depart, without the pleasure of acquainting you, that his Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester is so far recovered as to be able to bear the motion of the coach without affecting his breath, and to dine with his company as usual. We leave this place the 12th inst. for Pisa, where our stay may be about three weeks; it is then a doubt whether we make Florence in our way to Rome or take it in our return."

Extract of a Letter from a merchant in Cadix, to his correspondent in London, Oct. 20, 1771.

"At five o'clock this afternoon, the Vera Cruze a Spanish frigate (Don Antonio de la Vega, Commander) arrived here from the Isle of Falkland, after a passage of 35 days; and two hours after, one Scot (an Irish sailor, who has been for some time in the Spanish service, and sailed in the same frigate) came to my house. This fellow assures me, that on the 15th or 16th of July, two English ships arrived at that island, in order to take possession thereof, in conformity to the convention lately signed between the Spanish Ambassador and Lord Rochford, that the Commander presented his orders to the Spanish Commander, but that he raised so many difficulties about the restitution, whether it was to be of the whole island, or barely of Port Egmont, that after a three days conference upon the matter, the said English ships were forced to depart; yet it is not known for what port they set sail. The sailor could not inform me what was the purport or substance of the difficulties started; however, the fact is what I have related, and that the restitution was not made. It is also very certain, that for the greater secrecy of it, the Captain has his orders to pretend, that he comes immediately from Buenos Ayres, and to suffer no body to come ashore. The sailor in my house, being one of those who rowed the boat that brought ashore the Court dispatches, watched his opportunity to elope, and in hopes of a handsome gratuity, for bringing the news to an Englishman, fled to my house to communicate it to me, as, through the Captain's great care, it is kept a profound secret from the public."

"This is so very interesting a piece of intelligence that I beg you will immediately cause it to be inserted in our public papers, that the nation may not be surprised and imposed upon, but prepared against every event that may happen; and if you have an intimacy with any of our Ministers, you will do well to communicate it to them, and produce this very letter of mine, to convince them of the reality of the matter."

"P. S. By the next post you may expect farther particulars relative to this affair, time not permitting me at present to say more."

Nov. 30. A letter from Ireland advises, that when the House of Commons of that kingdom waited on the Lord Lieutenant with their resolution, viz.—"That seven Commissioners have been sufficient for the collection of the Revenue," he said "Gentlemen, I think it my duty to inform his Majesty of the sense of the House of Commons expressed in this resolution; and I think it incumbent upon me, upon this occasion to acquaint you, that I have received his Majesty's letters for appointing certain Commissioners therein mentioned, to the number of five, to the Commissioners of Excise, and certain other persons to the number of seven, to be Commissioners of Customs, pursuant to the several acts of parliament in this kingdom."

The resolution was carried by a majority of 46. The patriotic party in the Irish House of Commons, we hear, intend, since they have carried the question against increasing the number of the revenue Commissioners, to make a motion for reducing the present board; which consists of seven members, as seldom more than three ever reside in the kingdom for the transaction of public business.

The Lord Lieutenant may, in obedience to the Royal command, increase the officers of the Crown to what number he pleases in Ireland. But if parliament refuses to make a provision for their maintenance, we apprehend that very few, indeed, will be proud of inlisting themselves under banners of government.

By an incessant Rain we had last week, the river Tees swelled upwards of 20 feet perpendicular higher than the oldest man can remember. Thirty four ships were wrecked on Sunderland bar and on the North and South sand, three colliers were filled with water, one engine entirely ruined, out of 700 keels belonging to the river Wear, not 100 are found safe. Nineteen houses were washed away at Briggate, Barnard castle, and a number of work horses, furniture, stock in trade of many persons swept away. At Yarm half the town is swept away, 40 persons missing.

Extract of a letter from on board the Druid sloop of war, at Spithead, dated the 25th inst.

"Having fallen in with a vessel on my passage home from Jamaica, which from circumstances, I have reason to believe, was largely insured, I therefore think it a duty incumbent on me, and every other officer, to make cases of this kind known to the public."

In lat. 29 N. long. 85 W. seeing a vessel lying dismasted about six miles to the Leeward of me, expecting to find her in great distress, I bore down to her, sent a boat on board, and found her to be a fine new brig, lumber laden, belonging to New-London. She had been dismasted the 10th of Sept. and on the 23d the master and crew quitted her, as appears by a writing with chalk against the bulk-head of the cabin, and signed by the master; for what reason they quitted her I cannot conceive, unless for her being deeply injured; her hull being new, and in such good condition, that there was not a drop of water in her at the time I fell in with her, which was five days after the master and crew had left her; and every thing being taken away except the cargo, gives me reason to suspect something not right at the bottom.

I am, &c. RICHARD PEARSON.

It is beyond a question certain, that Lord Camden has broke entirely with Lord Chatham, from an utter impossibility of submitting any longer to that Nobleman's assumed airs of superiority; so that opposition is now weakened in one of its principal quarters, and bids fair for annihilation before the meeting of parliament.

An old correspondent, on whose intelligence we can depend, says, that while the Ministry are traduced from all quarters, and charged with almost every possible malversation, their conduct in regard to the naval department (a very essential branch of their business) is highly meritorious and praiseworthy; for that our fleet is in excellent order; 40 sail of the line can, on any emergency, be fitted out immediately; and tho' the establishment of our Navy is now so high and respectable, "there is not a single Navy Bill at this time bearing interest," which has not been the case for a great many years past.

Nov. 2. Following is an extract of a letter received from Sir John Dick, at Leghorn, on Tuesday last:

"His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester has been again terribly afflicted with the inflammation in his side, attended with his usual symptoms, faintings, languors, and hiccups, the latter of which has been particularly troublesome to him, and seems to threaten a confirmed syncope or convulsion."

A society is now forming, by the real friends of the constitution in church and State, in defence of the thirty-nine articles, against those who, at a time when every one enjoys liberty of conscience without the least molestation, are endeavouring not to revise and amend, but to cancel and destroy them.

We hear that the petition to Parliament for repealing the thirty-nine articles is highly approved of, and espoused by certain great Dignitaries in the church.

The petition for a repeal of the thirty-nine articles, hath met with a cold reception from the members of the University of Cambridge.

An abstract of the said petition, we are informed, hath been sent to the members of both houses.

INOCULATION.

THE Subscriber begs Leave to inform the Public, that he has opened a very convenient House, in a remote tho' pleasant Situation, within three miles of New-Brunswick, for the Reception of such Persons as propose taking the Small-Pox by Inoculation. The best Attendance will be given, and every Thing proper for their Accommodation shall be furnished, at a very low and easy Rate.

MANY are deterred from being inoculated, on Account of sore Arms, Boils and large Abscesses, often attending the common Method of treating the Disease; but more particularly from the ill Effects of the too free and indiscriminate Use of Mercury, by which many (tho' they recover the Small-Pox, yet the Constitution being injured,) soon fall Victims to some other Malady.

ALL these Inconveniences are avoided by a particular Method of preparing the Patient, the most efficacious and the least detrimental to the Constitution, by the Manner of conveying the Infection, and by the subsequent Treatment of the Disease, without the least Confinement; the Advantages of which have been fully and clearly demonstrated in upwards of 400 Persons under the Subscriber's Care in the Space of a few Months, last Winter and Spring, without the Misfortune of losing any; nor has there died more than one of that Number since, which plainly shews the singular Advantages of this Method.

A sufficient Number to make it worth his While, in any Part of the Country not contiguous to a Person properly qualified, (I don't mean authorized) shall be waited on, at a short Notice, by the Publick's.

Most obedient, humble Servant,
JOHN COCHRAN.
 NEW-BRUNSWICK,
 December 11. 1771.

To be Sold, or Let,
 And entered on immediately;

A Very good grist-mill, together with about 70 acres of land, lying on Mattawan creek, within about half a mile of Middle-Town Point, in East-New-Jersey: the said mill consists of two pair of stones, and three bolting boxes, all which go by water, which makes it extremely easy to tend the mill; an extraordinary and large mill house, well calculated for taking in large quantities of grain. The said mill, mill-house, mill-dam, and flood-gates, were all lately put in new and good repair. There is on said land two dwelling-houses; one of which is large and convenient, with a good, large and convenient stop added to it, suitable for a trader, as the place and situation is well calculated for that business; there is also a barn and sundry other out-houses on said land. The quality of the land, as follows, viz. About 45 acres of wood land, about 7 acres of salt meadow, the remainder cleared land, on part of which is a good young bearing orchard of about 60 apple trees, all grafts, also some peach and plum trees. It is a noted place for convenience to fowling, fishing, oystering, clamming, &c. as the land lies on both sides of the creek; and further, the boats that frequently follow coasting between Middle-Town Point and New-York, can go up the creek within a few rods of the mill. For further particulars, and conditions of sale, enquire of Mr. John Burrows, at Middle-Town Point, or Nathaniel Marton, merchant, in New-York, who will agree on reasonable terms; and give an indisputable title for the same.

To be SOLD, by the Subscribers;

In such Parcels, as may best suit the Purchasers, A Valuable tract of improved land, in the township of Alexandria, in the county of Hunterdon, and province of New-Jersey, commonly known by the name of BYERLIE'S Tract, containing about 8000 acres, now in the possession of a number of tenants, whose leases will expire the 25th of March next. It is situated on the river Delaware, and Musconong, about six miles below Easton, ten miles from Union-Iron-Works, is contiguous both to Mr. Hughes and Mr. Johnson's forges, and grist-mills, and in the neighbourhood of several other grist and saw-mills. The land is extremely well watered and of an excellent quality for raising of wheat and grain of all kinds. The tract is accommodated with a very good fishing place on the river Delaware, where a great quantity of shad and other fish are taken in the proper seasons. The buyers, on paying down one third of the purchase money, will have time given to pay the rest. For further particulars, application may be made to ARCHIBALD STEWART, of Andover-Iron-Works, who will attend on the land from the 1st to the 25th of March next.

ALLEN and TURNER.

To be sold, at public Vendue,

The 6th Day of April next, or at private Sale any Time before, THE place of Peter Bartine, in New-Rochelle, consisting of twenty one acres of good land, eighteen acres of which is good English mowing ground of an excellent soil; a good dwelling house, out-houses, and good barn; its situation and prospect beautiful to the south, adjoins New-Rochelle creek, and Mrs. Blecker's grist-mill; a harbour or landing belonging to and adjoining said place, sufficient for a ship of an hundred tons; about twenty rods from the New-Rochelle town landing, where vessels of considerable burden go in and out at low water; a public road leading from the country back to said landing, running before the door upon the whole, it is beautifully situated for any kind of public business, by land or water, or both: The beautiful situation and prospect up and down the sound, in which none exceeds it, would render it a most beautiful country seat for a gentleman; fish in the season plenty, to be caught from off their own dock, or landing, fowling, and any other conveniences, too tedious to mention. Any person desiring to purchase the same, may agree upon reasonable Terms, by applying to the subscriber, living on the premises, who will give an indisputable title.

New-Rochelle, Jan. 9. 1774.

Notwithstanding the contradictory reports in the public prints, the faculty give no hopes of a certain Personage's living till spring, neither can they promise, from the nature of her disorder, even the existence of a day; and are of opinion, that death may be either lingering or sudden, in the chamber, or when airing in the coach.

Nov. 23. A vessel from Genoa brings an account, that a very daring conspiracy has lately been discovered there; composed of the natives, and other inhabitants, to murder the whole Council with the Burghers. Two or three hundred were found actually under arms, and fired as a signal of revolt. This is the third conspiracy there within these two years.

Extract of a Letter from Barnard Castle, Nov. 10. "I am sorry to acquaint you with a dreadful calamity that has befallen this place from an inundation. By an incessant rain which fell from Friday morning to Saturday night, the river Tees swelled to such a degree, as to rise upwards, of twenty feet perpendicular higher than the oldest man living can remember.

We have dismal accounts of what has happened below us. At Yarm one half of the town is entirely swept away, and unfortunately 48 persons missing. We have received divers accounts of the same accidents happening in Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmoreland; in short, this place discovers a scene of horror and desolation too dreadful for humanity to behold, or words to express. The damage done here, upon a moderate estimation, is not less than 30,000l.

BOSTON, January 30.

Since our last arrived here Capt. Ware in a schooner from Falmouth in England, which he left the 5th of December, and informs that the Packet for New-York was to sail in a day or two after him; but imagines that by the strong westerly winds which he had for 30 days after he came out, she could not sail till some time after.

BOSTON, February 3.

We hear that Capt. Mark Feran, in a Sloop from Glasgow for this place, with about 20 persons on board, after being fourteen weeks at sea and their provisions almost expended, was early on Friday morning last unfortunately driven on shore at Plumb Island near Newbury-Port. It is said the cargo is entirely free from Damage and 'tis said the vessel may be got off again.

NEW-LONDON, January 31.

Last Sunday Capt. Burr arrived in 30 days from St. Eustatia, having had fine weather the whole passage. Captain Williams's vessel 3 or 4 days after departure from this port, sprung a leak, and made water so fast that they were obliged to throw over the cargo of horses.

Capt. Banks of New-York, who was passenger on board Capt. Burr, died on the passage.

A letter from Hispaniola says, "It is reported that two northern vessels have been seized at the Mole."

We hear from Woodstock, that on the 17th Ult. one Comins having cut down a tree, it fell on his head and killed him. The same day, one Darby, at Brooklyn, had his leg shattered by a like accident.

PHILADELPHIA, February 3.

On Thursday morning last, a fire broke out in the house of Mr. Thomas West, in Second-street, a few doors below Market-street, about seven o'clock in the morning, which in a few hours consumed the roof and upper story of the said house, together with those of Mr. John Wallace, Mr. William Smith, and Mr. William Severy, which adjoined them. The activity and public spirit of the inhabitants never appeared more conspicuous upon occasions of this nature than on the present. In spite of the inclemency of the weather (the wind blowing a North of hail and snow from N. E. the whole time) few were seen to leave their posts till the whole was extinguished. The loss in household furniture, merchandize, &c. to the above gentleman, we hear, is pretty considerable.

Mr. HOLT.

Please to insert the following extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in New-York, to his Friend in New-Jersey, dated January 30th, and you will much oblige one of your customers A. B.

On perusing the votes of your last Session of Assembly held at Burlington, I cannot help applauding the profound sagacity of sundry of your worthy members, in opposing a motion for bringing in a bill for a law to regulate the practice of physic and surgery in the province of New-Jersey, agreeable to the petitions of some thousands of the freeholders and principal inhabitants. A law which would have been replete with many evils, to the utter subversion of the useful society of quacks, empirics, mountebanks, tumblers, fools and merry Andrews; and manifestly tending to the encouragement of the injurious tribe of honest physicians and surgeons, whose knowledge of their profession has been gained at no trifling labour and expence; and whose candour and integrity would procure them the love and esteem of every good man. Had the same glorious disposition animated the souls of the infamous house of Burgesses of the colony of Virginia, when they gave up the liberties of their constituents in basely settling the stamp-act by which all America would have had secured to her, her freedom; or had the ninety-two Massachusetts non-residents acted on the same noble generous principles, with those of your representative body, then might America rejoice in the protection of her sons, and bid defiance to ministerial vengeance. When they meet with a desolation (which I am sorry to hear is soon expected) I hope the electors will have virtue enough to return the particular members who so remarkably distinguished themselves in rendering the most essential piece of service to their country, by which they have transmitted their names to the latest ages as patrons and supporters of the arts and sciences of which they are complete masters.

NEW-YORK, February 13.

The Ship York, Capt. Provost, arrived here last Friday, in 9 Weeks and two Days, from Portsmouth, having sailed from thence in Company with his Majesty's Ship the Portland, of 60 Guns, for Antigua, but parted with her a few Days after they came out, in a Gale of Wind.

Capt. Provost informs us, That his Majesty's Ships the Royal Oak, Terrible, Worcester, and Lepox, were to sail from Portsmouth for Spithead the Day after him, in order to join Admiral Pyle, who lay there with 9 Ships of the Line.

The 17th of January, in Lat. 36. 37. Lon. 83. 19. Capt. Provost spoke with the Ship St. George, Capt. Muir, from South-Carolina for London, 16 Days out all well.

Extract of a letter from Mr. DUNLAP ADAMS, merchant, of Trenton, to his friend in New-York, dated February 2d.

"About 2 o'clock in the morning of last Thursday I awoke, hearing the crackling noise of fire; I desired my wife to arise, for that I thought the house in flames! I ran to the store door in the hall, from whence the noise proceeded, and on opening it, the smoke and flame issued out in a torrent; passing up the staircase, it prevented my ascending to the relief of the rest of my family: I then made all the noise in my power to awake them, which succeeded, but the smoke and flames prevented their descending; providence inspir'd them with presence of mind and courage to retreat to the back window. My second daughter jump'd down with her younger sister in her arms, who, with the rest of the children, a young lad, and servant girl, all escaped unhurt. Thanks be to God for opening my eyes at the instant he did! in a few minutes after, we must all have awoke in eternity! I can scarce muster spirits to write to my brothers, but request you will do it, and inform them that I sav'd neither book, paper, nor any thing, except one bed and a few trifles. The inhabitants came to our assistance as quick as they could, with fire engines &c. but the flames spread so rapidly, they could not be stopped, till the following houses were destroyed, viz. Micaiah How's, Esq; Mr. Cummins's, Mrs. Mercelles's, Mr. Job Moor's, and a stable belonging to William Morris, Esq;."

Sunday last in the Forenoon, Charity Sermons were preached in Trinity Church, St. George, and St. Paul's Chapels, for relieving the Distresses of the poor Prisoners confined in the Gaol in this City, where handsome Collections were made for that Purpose.

Next Sunday a Collection will be made by the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church in this City, not only as a farther Aid in relieving the necessitous Poor, now confined in Gaol for Debt, in Case they have not already received a sufficient Supply from the Collections made for that Purpose in other Churches, but also towards relieving their distressed Families, and such other Poor as may need some Help in this severe Season. The Collections are to be made in the Morning in the Old and North Churches, and in the Evening in the New.

POET'S CORNER.

TO THE PRINTER.

If an humble Tribute of Praise, offer'd from the Heart, to the Memory of one of the best of Men, lately deceas'd, and to whom the Author is under Obligations, will be acceptable to any of your Readers, you may insert the following in your next Paper.

An ODE, occasioned by the Death of SAMUEL JOHNSON, D. D. formerly President of King's College, New-York.

A DIEU the fairy Spots of Fancy's Train.

That went to heal my pious Soul from Care;

Or wing'd its flight from Scenes of sick'ning Pain.

To magic Pleasures, ever young and fair!

Oh! Fancy, by thy smiling Phantoms led,

I've spurn'd the sober Feast by Reason spread;

Too oft allur'd the Dagger keen of Woe,

By nursing hope of Joys that Man must never know.

But ah! how shall we bear to part?

Companions of my youthful Heart!

In Pleasures robes that cover'd Toil,

And taught each smiling Joy more winningly to smile!

Yes, we must part—your Power resign!

—You told me Friendships Joys were mine,

Bade me to mark the youthful Mind

Where ev'ry social Grace combin'd;

To trace, in Genius' dawning Ray,

The Lustre of his future Day;

Then show'd the Knot, by Virtue bound,

With purest, sweetest Blessings crown'd;

Thy airy Regions bade appear,

—And whisper'd in my flatter'd Ear,

—These happy Paths are yours to tread,

—Till Age has silver'd o'er your Head.

—Yes, cruel Cheat, thy Power resign,

Yon said such Pleasures should be mine,

And pleas'd I thought, unweaving of my Woe,

To seize the blooming Blessings as they sprung,

While Fate supreme in Dust had levell'd low

The friendly, bosom'd Stock on which they hung.

And you, ye Friends of Folly's Train!

Shall court my alter'd Soul in vain;

Concited, for Knowledge ever glowing,

Only for the Pride of knowing;

Wealth, whose Soul subduing Ray

The yielding Virtues melts away;

Glory, whose Trumpet high and loud

Sounds for the Insolent and Proud,

While Wit and Worth unknown'd die,

In dark'ning Shades of Modesty;

Grandeur, with affected gait

Groaning beneath the Load of State,

Bart'ring the Sterling Blis of Ease,

For hollow, light Formalities,

Phantoms fleeing as untrue,

This Hour I bid you all adieu:

For late, as sad I stray'd when fable Night

Had drawn her Curtain o'er the chequer'd Scene,

Startling with haggard Limbs the aching Sight

When Giant Horror treads the silent Green,

—I heard—I startled—paus'd—benumb'd with Fear,

While awful, solemn Sounds address'd my greedy Ear.

—Mortal! trifle Time no more,

—The Task of Life will soon be o'er,

—Each Moment left to Virtue here,

—Is left to Happiness sincere;

—Each generous Pang for human Woe,

—Each Tear for suffering Virtue's flood,

—Shall purge, unpall'd Joys bestow,

—When Wealth, and Pomp and Pride are dead;

—Go view the Vices, Politics, Care

—Of those whom Man calls great and big;

—Then teach thy Soul this humble Prayer,

—Like JOHNSON let me live and die.

—Blest Saint! whatever Seats above,

Thy happy Spirit Joys to rove,

Whether thou fill with anxious Mind

Pan't for the Blis of human kind;

Or raptur'd Views thy unimprison'd Soul,

Created Worlds in countless Numbers roll—

—Accept the tributary Lay,

With Gratitude attempts to pay!

Thine was the winning, unaffected Art,

Knowledge with meek Humility to blend,

With strong Edict to bind the youthful Heart,

And mix the sage Preceptor with the Friend;

Thine was a Soul the Wretches pang to feel,

Thou gav'st a Tear when Fate Relief denied;

Thou knew'st no Guile with flattery to conceal

The fraudful Wile, for thou had'st none to hide;

Thy undesigning Soul suspected none,

Unpractis'd in the World's fallacious snares;

Bland Infants' Mildness in thy Manners shone,

Thy Heart as tender, plant, pure as theirs.

You feign'd no Faith to bide the vulgar Praise,

No Fame, but Reason's calm Applauses sought;

Fair as your bright Religion were your Ways.

Your Life a Copy of the Rules you taught.

Bright beam'd thy Bosom with seraphic Love,

Leaving no Room for sordid Earth-born Care;

Thy Soul was fix'd on Heaven—save when it strove

To guide and draw thy fellow Mortals there.

Then, when thy well-done Part was at an End,

Stripp'd of his Dart, his Frowns, and daunting Rage,

Death took thy willing Hand, and like a Friend

Gently remov'd thee smiling, from the Stage.

Virtue! richest Prize below!

Soul of Bliss! and Balm of Woe!

Thy hallow'd Temple make my Breast,

And every Joy shall be my Guest.

—Not thou, in dreaming Cloisters bred,

On sacred Rust and Shadow's fed,

Fell Superstition! whose dull Eye

Attempts in vain to reach the Sky;

While waves thy Sword, with Vengeance fierce,

A Brother's guileful Heart to pierce!

—The Author alludes to the recent Death of his Friend

Dr. OBERDOCK, a young Gentleman who, with an Heart glowing with universal Benevolence, possessed an Understanding capable of being useful to Mankind and a peculiar Politeness of Behaviour which attracted the Affection of all who knew him. He died at St. Eustasia, where he was just happily settled, of a putrid Fever, Et. 21, much lamented by the Inhabitants.

Not thou, enthusiastic Folly,
Daughter of fallow Melancholy,
Whose Fancy Nature's perfect Gift
After thy own soul Image draws!
But thou, with Forts so sweet and mild,
Heaven-sun'd Reason's fair'd Child!
Whose Love diffusive unconfin'd,
To Creatures flows of every Kind;
Then rises unconstrain'd and free,
And centres in the Deity.
O Goddess o'er my Soul preside!
And Life shall want no Bliss beside.
Thou doom'd to ask with tearful Eye,
The scanty Bread of Poverty!
Thou shouldst thrust me from his Door
To heal whose Woes I made me poor!
Bereft of ev'ry Friend but Thee,
When Fortune's sudden Tempest toils,
Thy Beams would cheer my gloomy Hours,
And gild my Evening-paith with mild Serenity.

3544 Prizes,
6456 Blanks,
10,000 Tickets, at Five Dollars each, are 50,000 Dol.

Not two Blanks to a Prize.

THE following Gentlemen are appointed Managers, who are to be upon Oath for the faithful Discharge of the Trust reposed in them, Viz. George Monroe, Esq; David Finney, Esq; John Thompson, Esq; Nicholas Van Dyke, Esq; and Mr. Samuel Patterson, all of New-Castle County. And as there are a Number of Gentlemen of extensive Influence and Acquaintance who interest themselves in the Disposal of the Tickets, it is expected it will soon be completed. The Drawing to begin at the Town of New-Castle, the Second Day of March next. A List of the fortunate Numbers will either be published in the Essex, Rhode-Island, New-York, Philadelphia, and Charles-Town News-Papers, or carefully sent to those Places: And the Prizes will be paid, subject to a Deduction of Fifteen per Cent. by Messrs. David Vanborn, John Murray, Joseph Hall, William Neilson, Walter Buchanan and John Morley, Merchants, in New-York, Mr. Abraham Hunt, Merchant, in Trenton, Mr. East Kelsey, Merchant, in Princetown, Doctor John Cochran New-Brunswick, Robert Ogden, Esq; and Mr. John Blanchard, Merchant, in Elizabeth-Town, Messrs. Peter Chevalier, and John Byard, Merchants, in Philadelphia, and by proper Persons who shall hereafter be appointed in all the other Capital Towns on the Continent.

Little need be said to shew how advantageous this Scheme is to the Adventurer, as there are not two Blanks to a Prize, and the lowest Prizes are double the Value of a Ticket, which may draw Three Thousand and One Hundred Dollars; this, with the benevolent Purposes to which the Profits arising from the Lottery, are to be appropriated, 'tis hoped will induce the Public to encourage it.

TICKETS are to be had from the Managers, from Doctor John M. Kiny, in Wilmington, and from James Van Dyke, Esq; at Dover. Orders for Tickets left with any of the above named Gentlemen will be carefully forwarded.

THE MANAGERS of the NEW-CASTLE LOTTERY, in Behalf of the Presbyterian Congregations of New-Castle and New-York, &c. thank the PUBLIC for the Encouragement it has given to that Scheme; and as there are but a few Tickets unsold, they expect to draw that Lottery on the Time fixed: therefore those that intend to become Adventurers in it, are desired to apply in Time.

N. B. Any of the above Lands, if desired, will be sold in single Farms.

JOHN BURCHET.

Stay and Riding Habit-maker, lately arrived from London and Paris.

TAKES this method to inform the public, that he has opened shop in Smith street, three doors from the corner in Wall street, near the statue, where he intends to carry on his business in a most extensive manner,—such as making stays, jumps, both packthread and others; likewise riding habits in the newest and neatest manner, either in the French or English taste, as cheap as can be imported.—He therefore hopes the Ladies of this city will be pleased to try his abilities by countenancing him with their commands, as he flatters himself capable of yielding them the utmost satisfaction and meriting their esteem.—So that all those who favour his endeavours may depend on being punctually served, by their acknowledged, very

Humble servant,

JOHN BURCHET.

INFORMATION is hereby intended to be given the public, that the subscriber being advanced in years, and infirm of body, proposes to sell at private sale his plantation containing 120 acres of land, about 15 acres of which is meadow, that has been and may be watered; 'tis situated in the township of Hopewell, in the county of Hunterdon and province of New-Jersey. There are on the premises, a good stone dwelling-house, stone kitchen, granary, and framed barn, a spring of water very convenient, that not only supplies the house and kitchen, but also accommodates a distillery, over which a new stone house is erected; two very good bearing orchards, &c. The premises in good repair, having thereon near 600 rods of stone-fencing; it will be sold altogether, or a part thereof, as may best suit the purchaser, and may be entered upon the 1st of May next. Any person inclining to purchase, can view the premises and agree upon reasonable terms, with

JOSEPH PRICE.

Hopewell, Jan. 27th, 1772.

FOR the term of one or more years, the pleasantly situated house and lot of ground, belonging to William De Feyster, and in which he now lives, in St. George's Square, at the upper end of Queen's street, almost directly opposite to the house of the late Honourable William Walton, Esq;—The house is in very good order, and hath two neat rooms upon the first, and two upon the second floor, with fire places in each of them, besides bed rooms, and an excellent room for a store or shop, of 23 feet square, adjoining the house, with the convenience of a large cistern and pump, in the yard. The lot is in front about 36 feet wide, besides the privilege of a gangway for a cart; and is in length about 244 feet.—There are on the premises, an excellent well-built and spacious store house, with all the conveniences of a large oven, &c. at the lower part of it, for carrying on the baking, and in the upper part, for the bolting business;—also a fine chocolate mill, with all things necessary for manufacturing that commodity with ease and expedition, together with stables for cows and horses, and a house for a chaise, or any other carriage. The rear of the said lot is finely situated for a garden, to which purpose it has for many years been applied, and in that time excellently manured.—The premises are well adapted to answer either a store or a shopkeeper, a baker, or a person who inclines to follow the business of chocolate making.

Whoever wants to rent the same, may agree upon the terms, by applying to

WILLIAM DE FEYSTER.
